President’s Letter

March

Happy Saint Patrick’s Day - almost. I hope that you are wearing green and planning some fun. We have had a fabulous start to the new year with Carolingian and Versals in January followed by Spencerian with Pat Blair in February. It is a shame that the weather did not cooperate and kept her from arriving in time for the Friday slide show. For those who attended the Spencerian workshop, it was great! The lowercase could be characterized by the word "light". There was almost never any pressure placed on the pen. That is a skill unto itself. But practicing it will help in every other hand that you use. The caps were another thing entirely. Large and lots of shading with pressure. The caps are what makes the script so spectacularly beautiful and it will take lots of practice. Of course that is just me. There were several in the class who made beautiful caps on the first day. I am in awe - you know who you are.

While Donna is at home recovering from her knee replacement, Margaret Mall has stepped in for the March program. She will be teaching us watercolor techniques for painting critters - animals, birds, etc. She took a class at conference in Minnesota where they worked on vellum. The work of every student in class was beautiful. You will be able to take home the new skills and finish the illustration for your letter for the ABC book project or whatever stand-alone piece that you are working on.

That brings us to the ABC book project. I have received two submissions already. Plan on bringing yours to the March, April, or the May meeting at the latest. The earlier the better as I will be photographing them and doing the layout on the computer. We desire to go to print in the early summer. I am speaking to printers now about price, paper, size and cost.

March 19th is the next Newbie workshop. Betty Barna will be teaching Neuland. Check out the workshop page for details and a supply list. It will be held at the Custer Road United Methodist Church on Custer Road just south of Legacy in Plano. We have had several events there and it is often referred to as “Janell’s church”. Don’t get it confused with our new general meeting place.

THE NEW GENERAL MEETING PLACE is at First United Methodist Church just south of Arapaho off of US 75 in Richardson. The room is upstairs but there is an elevator very close. There are several buildings so come a few minutes early to find the correct spot. We have the rest of the spring meetings booked at First United Methodist Church. The reason for the change is that the police department (maybe city wide) will only schedule out a month ahead. This meant that we were not assured of a spot and would possibly have to scramble for a meeting place at the last minute. I think that you will find the new room very comfortable and still convenient for most of our members.

Keep practicing!

Poems from a New Love.
by Sherrie Lovler and Anthony Lawlor
http://www.inkmonkey.com/twoasone/

Sherrie Lovler finally has her book out!!!! Inspiring calligraphic art, poems and stories sharing the birth of a new romance. A uniquely beautiful, heartwarming gift. The book is a collaboration between her boyfriend/hubby now! architect, Tony, and she when they were getting to know each other through emails and poems they sent one another.

WHAT A LOVE STORY!
If anyone wants to order the poetry book from Inkmonkey (Sherrie Lovler) I will be glad to do a group order to save on shipping. I noticed that the Austin guild was offered a $1 per book shipping if they had 10 books. I presume that we would get the same deal.

When using a Speedball Plastic Offset penholder sometimes the nib sticks out too far from the holder making writing a bit clumsy and keeping your hand and fingers too far from the paper. Here’s a simple solution to remedy the nib from sticking too far out. With a Dremel cutoff tool (or hacksaw) simply cut off the back end of the nib holder. This will leave a loose, small plastic rod that the nib shaft fits around while the nib is in the holder. Cement this plastic rod on the bottom of the new “no back” nib holder with a drop of “crazy glue” on the underside of the rod. When the cement is dry you have a backless nib holder that will allow the nib to stick out the back end for a proper position of the point. Haven’t you ever wondered why most all nib holders do not have a solid back end with the exception of the Speedball holder? Because not all nibs are the same length the longer ones have to be pushed farther into the nib holder for comfort.

And as an addition to the above – how far should your nib stick out from the nib holder? Another simple solution and is foolproof. Push the nib into the nibholder, place a straight edge or ruler alongside the centerline of the penstaff as a guide and allow the ruler to extend past the tip of the nib. Push (or pull) the nib so that the nib point just touches the ruler. That’s the answer to the question as to how far the nib should stick out from the nib holder! No more – no less. Repeating: when the tip of the nib touches the straight edge that is the ideal position of the nib to the penholder.

Keep a small piece of leather handy on your work table for sharpening your broad nibs – the hairy backside is best for this purpose and works like a charm, but don’t get carried away with this sharpening as the nib can become too sharp (yes) and cut the paper you’re working on. This usually happens when you’ve created a masterpiece and you are down to the last few lines. Now it’s do-over time.

Another handy tool to keep handy is a magnifier lens – I like to use a 10x loupe. The loupe is a great tool for checking the nib edge, slant and sharpness of a broad edge nib and many more uses.

A compromise is the art of dividing a cake in such a way that everyone believes he has the biggest piece.

Creating Critters in Watercolor
March 12 Program
Margaret Mall, Instructor

If you are going to letter and illuminate a letter for the children’s alphabet book, bring that letter drawn on one piece of the above paper. Leave room within or around your letter to draw the animal, bird, or other object your letter represents for the book. NOTE: The letter you draw for today’s class ought to be at least 5 to 6 inches high.

If you are not working on a letter for the children’s book, then bring a drawn letter with an animal (critter) in mind to watercolor. I will provide some color pictures of animals to select from.

Supplies
- Bristol, Arches Hot Press, or other smooth finish watercolor paper, approx. 8x10”
- Brush sizes 20/0, 10/0, 3/0 (short handled Windsor & Newton brushes preferable, but any brush that has a rather short bristle and/or handle). You will be painting mostly with a dry brush and short strokes.

• Suggested® water colors and/or gouache (*Basically, you want to bring the colors you will use for your animal, bird, flower or other object):
  - Naples Yellow
  - Payne’s Grey
  - Van Dyke Brown
  - Ivory or Mars Black
  - Zinc or Permanent White
  - Sap green
  - Burnt Umber
  - Burnt Sienna
  - Yellow Ochre
  - Red Ochre

• Palette for mixing watercolors
• Distilled water
• Container and water to clean brushes
• Paper towels

Spencerian Script and Ornamental Penmanship
Volumes One & Two, by Michael R. Sull are in our library. Those of you who were lucky enough to participate in Pat Blair’s workshop will remember she mentioned these volumes as an excellent resource on the Spencerian hand.

The almost impossible to find, Volume One covers everything you need and want to know about the origin and execution of the hand. To me, “America’s Golden Age of Ornamental Penmanship” was both interesting and exciting. Finding that Platt Rogers Spencer started his penmanship career at the age of seven using tree bark, ice, snow, scraps of leather, and sand to practice showed a fierceness to his passion. I especially liked the idea of using sand near a river made smooth with the ripples from the water for practice. It seems so poetic.

Even if you are not so interested in the history, both Volume One (for the techniques) and Two (for the examples) are a must for developing your Spencerian hand. I give five stars for these volumes.

Betty Barna

The just the chance to sit and play with others who share your passion, is a treat. Add the fact that you are being instructed by the Chief White House Calligrapher, Pat Blair, and it's “over the moon” time for me.

Pat took us through the fundamental movements and strokes of the upper and lower case but I have to say it was the flourishing that got me the most excited. The combination possibilities are endless. And while the script itself is very distinct and particular and I loved every letter, I was most entranced by the flourishing. Whether funky or traditional, it all works. I love the original spin of that. I even went home and created more pieces that I will be including in my next blog post. It's a great way to let people know about the "beyond the letters" possibilities of calligraphy.

In addition to the letter learning that was going on, I also enjoyed getting to know some of the other attendees a little better. Since I've just come back to the group and haven't been able to make all the meetings, I haven't had the chance to chat with some of you. So for me this was an added plus. Everyone was so warm and friendly. Not to mention the yummy food that everyone brought! I think we all collectively crowned Jeri, the new Soup Queen!

Lastly, I fell in love sitting next to Randy... when he introduced me to the Oblique Hour Glass Holder :) OOOHHH...AAAHHHH. I am ordering one soon. In fact, there was a lot of nib exchange information. So much so that several people thought it would make a great play date or program. I've heard it's been done before, but I say bring it back!

I can't thank the board enough for deciding to bring Pat to Dallas at such a great price to our members as well as Donna and Jeri for all their hard work to set up the workshop. I am ready to sign up for the next one!

In fact the whole experience was so wonderful, I'm looking at attending IAMPETH in July. Loved the whole thing!!

Debi Sementelli

I was fortunate enough to be the host for Pat Blair. We had been in contact with one another before the planned workshop by email, but then much more personally after her flight was canceled, twice. It was so unfortunate that we did not get the opportunity to hear her lecture as I am sure that it would have added so much more to the class and the subject that we were covering. However, her calm demeanor and her expertise, not just in her subject, but in teaching as well, took away all trepidation that we might have had about tackling this very graceful and beautiful hand. Despite the shortness of time, she met the goals for the weekend, lending a calm assurance to each and every student. She was a delight. And we all produced a lovely ornament to take home and brag about. You just cannot ask for more than that.

Betty Barna

The pointed pen has been my pen of choice for a very long time, with the Copperplate lettering style my favorite. How excited I’ve been awaiting this workshop with Pat Blair, the Chief Calligrapher of the White House. I suppose it is the delicate elegance of the Spencerian hand that enraptures me. Having wanted to take instruction in this style for so long, this past weekend was a delight.

Friday proved to be a bit chaotic. Betty Barna was up most of the night and day just waiting to hear from Pat on the latest update on her flight to Dallas. Weather and mechanical problems caused all flights from Reagan airport to be canceled Pat was then rescheduled for a very early flight on Saturday morning. This of course threw a kink into our Friday night lecture, causing us to cancel. Emails and calls were quickly sent out to Kaligrafos members. Despite the rough start to the weekend, Betty picked up Pat at DFW bright and early Saturday morning. The workshop start was only delayed about 30 minutes. Everyone was anxious to get going. We began with learning and practicing the principles of the basic letter strokes: straight line, under-curve, over-curve, loop and oval counter. These were all used in the lower case letters. A cross drill exercise was introduced and renders a really cool pattern when completed. Later that first day we were to begin learning the capital letter forms. The three main elements of form are the direct oval, the compound curve and the capital stem. All three strokes looked fairly simple on paper, but to get that perfect letterform is something that must be practiced. ……a lot! Pat’s hand just glides across the paper with perfect letterforms that just flow like water from her pen. The drama in the Spencerian hand is a direct result of the wonderful capital letters, the lower case is quite plain and very light handed. A whole arm movement is required to execute the letterform freely and smoothly. We picked up the rest of the capital letters on Sunday morning and then Pat spent time teaching us some basic flourishing strokes. And, wow, did the participants take to that task! Everyone’s flourishes were fantastic.

Pat shared with us some samples of her calligraphy done for White House events, dinners, and parties. She, along with 3 other calligraphers, have their office in the east wing of the White House. How would you feel to have only 3 hours to come up with an invitation to a White House event? They sometimes have a very short window to come up with a perfect calligraphic rendering, with the Social Secretary having the approval wand on all submissions. Let's see, how would one describe the feeling.....stressful, exciting, panic?!

Jeri Wright

Just like all the rest of us, I was so disappointed that Pat Blair’s lecture had to be canceled. But this workshop more than made up for that. And then at the beginning of the workshop, I was concerned we weren’t going to make much progress with Pat’s easy-going demeanor. Well, again I was proven wrong. And….I’m soooo glad! It was that demeanor which made it all fun and relaxing.

It has been a long time since I've used the script writing I learned, and these two days allowed for a revival in my heart. While the Spencerian is so different, I did so enjoy it and found it very relaxing….especially just sitting there on Saturday and writing away by myself during lunch. I look forward to using such handwriting, and did appreciate all that Pat packed into the time she was here. She was great! I also very much appreciated all the work done by Donna and Jeri to make this workshop possible.

Wow, The Valentine party committee did an outstanding job. The party was AWESOME.

Sherry Barber

It was my first Kaligrafos Valentine Exchange and it did not disappoint! I was AMAZED at all the unique and wonderful creations. Thanks again to Sherry and everyone who helped make it all happen!

Debi Sementelli

I believe our Valentine Party was a success in every way. This would not have happened without you and your hard work. It all started with a beautiful invitation design and the help of the whole committee getting it ready for the mail. Naturally, we had the best calligraphers in the country for all the hand lettering required. Then we moved along to the food coordination, preparation and presentation. Wow, just outstanding. Our setting was so comfortable and beautiful. Sign-in book was so cute! The chocolatier numbering system is down to a fine art. And by the way I just like saying the word chocolatier! According to spell check, I can’t spell the word so there you go.

I had the best committee ever. Thank you so much.

Nan

What a great party! You all did a great job! Whoever thought of the wine? - a special thank you to you!!!! It was all great as usual. And I do appreciate all of the work involved.

Anna Hithersay came across this info. I think some of you should submit work!

– Sherry Barber

Charlotte Rivers from the blog, Lottie Loves, is researching a book on Calligraphy. I thought maybe some others in Kaligrafos would be interested in submitting work.

From Charlotte:

I am currently researching examples of work for a book about modern calligraphy and we’d love to include some of your work.... The book will be published in Summer 2011 by acclaimed art book publisher Rotovision (www.rotovision.com). I have written some 14 books for them all around the area of design / graphic design.

The idea of the book is to showcase a really good range of inspiring work by some of today’s best, most innovative, calligraphers showing how this ancient art has been brought into the 21st Century and is very much a trend again today.... We are looking for a wide reaching range of examples of work to include from work done on paper and card to work done on other different, more unusual materials or surfaces as well as work that features in an unusual end products. We don’t want it to be a book just of wedding stationery, although some wedding stationery is of course ok as are other stationery examples such calendars, envelopes, name place cards and so on (please see chapters below).

It would be great to include your work so if you could look through the chapter / sections below and select some work to submit based on those chapters that would be great....

With each piece of work you submit can you include:

1. Images of the work (as many as you like) jpegs at A4 300dpi
2. Details about who / what the project was created for, what the brief was and what inspired the type of calligraphy you created
3. Details of the type of writing tool used (broad edge pen, pointed pen, brush, or was it created digitally)
4. What type of ink and paper / stock / materials you used
5. Details of the calligraphic technique used (foundational, gothic, unical, copperplate, Spencerian, etc)
6. Which chapter does it fit in to? (see chapters below)
7. Your details - name, company name, location, web address, email address
8. Any other information you think is relevant to the work

Work should be from the last two years.

Any questions please let me know... I am looking for submissions asap so please get your work over to me by email as soon as you can... thanks so much!

Finally if there are any fellow calligraphers you think I should contact please let me know, I am looking for people globally...

Best wishes, Charlotte

Georgia Deaver Workshop in Round Rock

Soft Pastel Drawing and Painting PLUS Lettering

April 2 & 3, 2011 (Saturday/Sunday)

The wonderfully talented Georgia Deaver will be in Austin April 2 - 3, 2011 to share at least 12 techniques done with soft pastels (as opposed to oil or chalk) to incorporate rich, saturated color into our work. Using these soft pastels we will create several works of art of varying difficulty. Beginners need not be hesitant, there is no previous drawing experience required...only an enthusiastic attitude and a willingness to learn. We will also learn about the various papers and surfaces appropriate for this technique and play with both light and dark surfaces. Incorporating text will also be a component of the class, utilizing soft pastels and our traditional writing tools. It will be a fast and furious two days with lots of hands on, demos and pure fun!

Registration began at the February 10th CCS General Meeting.

Mail a check to Bailey Amon on or after February 11th.

Bailey Amon
6454 Hart Lane
Austin, Texas 78731

Workshop fee for 2 days will be $100.

About the Instructor

Koo Schadler graduated from Tufts University in 1984 with a BA in Art History. After graduating she traveled throughout Europe and eventually settled in Florence, Italy where she pursued art history and painting studies.

On returning to the states in 1986 she moved to California where she was introduced to egg tempera through artist Chester Arnold at the College of Marin. In the 90's Koo returned east and settled in a small town in Southern New Hampshire. For three years she studied classical oil painting with Numael and Shirley Pulido, while pursuing egg tempera studies on her own. She established a studio where she now pursues full time the study and creation of egg tempera paintings and silverpoint drawings.

Koo is a Master painter of The Copley Society of Boston. She is represented by the J. Cacciola Gallery, New York, and Tree's Place in Orleans, MA.

She is a board member of the Society of Tempera Painters, writes and lectures on egg tempera, and teaches tempera, gesso and design workshops around the country.
